The World Bank Research Program, 2005-2007: Abstracts of Current Studies The World Bank
This volume is a compendium of research projects initiated, ongoing, or completed in fiscal years 2005 through 2007. Each abstract summarizes the research questions, the analytical methods used and the findings and policy implications, and describes the research team and publications produced. Each program centers on a theme giving coherence to the research. Of the more than 250 research projects reported in this publication, 18 percent were related to international economics; 10 percent to environment and natural resource management, and 9 percent to political economy, governance, public sector management, and public service delivery. Other important themes include public health, human capital development, infrastructure, poverty and inequality, agriculture and rural development, migration, and macroeconomics and growth. This volume also contains complete bibliographical references for research publications produced by the World Bank (staff and consultants) during this period including books published by our internal publication department and external publishers, scholarly articles published in peer-reviewed journals, working papers, policy research reports and so-called flagship reports. During the FY05 07 period, Bank staff and consultants produced 2,700 publications, including 160 books, 1,000 scholarly articles in peer-reviewed journals, and 960 Policy Research Working Papers.
